

Mayor Whaley announces members of Eviction Task Force

Release Date: Friday, March 8, 2019

Contact: Torey Hollingsworth, torey.hollingsworth@daytonohio.gov, 937-333-3590

Mayor Nan Whaley announces the members of a new Eviction Task Force that will study evictions in the city of Dayton and make recommendations to reduce unnecessary evictions.

The creation of the task force was announced in Mayor Whaley's state of the city address in February as part of a new strategic focus by the City of Dayton on reducing barriers to opportunity for Dayton residents.

"I appreciate the diverse group of organizations and perspectives represented on this task force," said Mayor Whaley. "Evictions are important to tackle in creating more stability for families and for neighborhoods. I appreciate the service of each of the task force members, and look forward to their recommendations for how the City can increase housing and neighborhood stability.

Members of the task force are:

Advocates for Basic Legal Equality/Legal Aid of Western Ohio
Debra Lavey, Attorney

City of Dayton Human Relations Council
Erica Fields, Director

City of Dayton Law Department
Barbara Doseck, City Attorney - Chair

City of Dayton Planning and Community Development
Erin Ritter, Human Service Policy Advisor

Dayton Municipal Court
Judge Mia Wortham Spells

Dayton Power & Light
Holly Wiggins, Director of Community and Corporate Social Responsibility

Greater Dayton Apartment Association
Jo Wise, Executive Director

Greater Dayton Premier Management
Kiya Patrick, Vice President of Strategic Development

Miami Valley Community Action Partnership
Cherish Cronmiller, President and CEO

Miami Valley Fair Housing Center
Jim McCarthy, President/CEO

Montgomery County Common Pleas Court
Judge Mary Wiseman

Montgomery County
Commissioner Carolyn Rice

Oberer Management Services
Lloyd Cobble, Vice President

Ohio Realtors
Anjanette Frye, 2019 President

Sinclair Community College
Dr. Kathy Rowell

#

