Nominations for the annual Steve Whalen Memorial Policing Award are being accepted through April 18.

The award recognizes Dayton police officers who demonstrate extraordinary commitment to community service. It is named in honor of Officer Steve Whalen, who was killed in the line of duty on March 22, 1991.

Officer Whalen was known for his strong dedication to community-oriented policing and public service.

Nomination forms can be completed online here or at daytonohio.gov.

The award will be presented at the annual Dayton Police Department awards ceremony on April 28, 1 p.m., at the Salvation Army Ray and Joan Kroc Center (1000 N. Keowee St). The community is welcome to attend the ceremony.
